'LUXURY LINER' WRECKED, SEVEN PERSONS KILLED

Flyer Finds Wreckage On Slope Of Last Chance Hill

By Ben Robertson.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
Dehrade, N. Y., June 11.—(AP)—The charred wreckage of a New York to Chicago "Luxury Liner," with the bodies of its seven occupants nearby, was found today smashed against the almost inaccessible slope of Last Chance Hill, a 2,000 foot peak in the Adirondacks.

The twin-motored biplane, roaring through a fog and thunderstorm last Saturday, had cut a long gash through the thick tree tops and crashed half way up the rugged mountainside.

The wreck was sighted about noon by W. H. (Ted) Hallock, piloting one of a score of planes in a widespread search of the vanished 16-seater ship.

Locates Wreckage.
The scorched brown scar against the green forest attracted his attention. Skimming the trees, he saw bits of the tell-tale orange and blue fuselage. Quickly he communicated his discovery to the Newark airport, from which the liner had taken off for Chicago.

Hallock flew back to Livingston Manor, a few miles from here, with his companion, Lee Lord. Then he led a detail of state troopers along dangerous trails through the dark woods, slippery from heavy rainfall.

Three times the searching party, which included Captain Daniel E. Fox of the state police and Mayor Floyd Ackery of Ellenville, ardently climbed the mountain before they could locate the wreck.

They got their bearings by rowing into Monacaup pond, which lies in a high valley 90 miles northwest of New York City. Finally Captain Fox spotted a bit of red fuselage in the top of a tree.

He toiled once more up the scaly mountainside and fired three pistol shots—a prearranged signal—and lit a smudge. In a few minutes other members of the party reached the isolated spot.

The bodies lay not far apart in a patch of blooming blackberry briars and green ferns, with the parts of the smashed ship scattered around them.

The bodies of Pilot Clyde Holbrook and Co-Pilot John Barron, Jr., were just to the rear of the motor. An axle was bent around a broken tree. A few feet away lay Stewardess Ada Hucksby. Further down the incline were the bodies of the four passengers, each severely burned.

STEEL WORKERS ARE PREPARING FOR BIG STRIKE

Government's Peace Proposal Meets Opposition

By Marben Graham.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
Pittsburgh, June 11.—(AP)—Leaders of the Steel Workers' Union tonight expressed opposition to the government's peace proposals and set about laying plans for a convention Thursday to determine "ways and means" to start a nation-wide strike.

M. F. Tighe, president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Tin and Steel Workers, said he is powerless to do other than carry out the mandate of the April meeting which ordered the walkout for the middle of this month unless the industry meets the workers' demands.

Want Recognition.
"We are asking only one thing—recognition," declared Tighe. "We've never had a 'closed shop' agreement in the almost 60 years our organization has operated; we've never had a check off of union dues by employers."

"We want only to negotiate with the employers for those men who belong to our lodges."

Tighe's statement was regarded as virtual refusal by the Amalgamated to accept the government's proposal, made last week, for a three-man mediation board to adjust difficulties between the opposing factions.

However, Tighe held forth some hope of a possible compromise by saying Thursday's convention could reconsider the holiday move if it decides it can obtain the wanted "recognition" by "some other method."

He added he could not say whether a compromise to the government's proposal will be made.

Steel employers already have approved the government plan under which the three members of the proposed board, all outside the steel industry, would settle all differences.

Plans for General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, to attend the union convention Thursday have been cancelled, at least tentatively.

Tighe had invited Johnson to come, but criticism of the administrator by the "rank and file" committee of the Amalgamated caused friends to advise the NRA chief not to participate.

MADMAN KILLS FIVE PERSONS WITH KNIFE

Arrest Man Washing His Bloodstained Clothing

Susanville, Calif., June 11.—(AP)—A killer presumably maddened by jealousy slashed five persons to death here during the night and officers, following a gruesome trail of evidence, took into custody today a man who allegedly was seen washing his apparently bloodstained clothing afterward.

The suspect denied any knowledge of the crime.

The victims were:
Joe Fazio, 45, a groceryman.
Mrs. Joe Fazio, 45, his wife.
Sadie Fazio, 22, their daughter.
John Fazio, 26, a son.
Mrs. Lena Amistani, 42, a neighbor.

Friend Arrested.
Sheriff James Leavitt said he had taken into custody a friend of the family, Peter Aloisi, 45, a mill worker, for questioning.

"You got the wrong man," Leavitt quoted Aloisi as saying. The officer said Aloisi was calm during a quizzing and declared he knew nothing about the quintuple tragedy.

Leavitt said Aloisi was seized while washing a shirt and trousers at the mill where he is employed. The officer declared the clothing apparently was blood stained.

The slayings were discovered last night. Orin Hawes, driving his automobile near the Fazio residence here, saw a man slashing viciously at a woman with a foot-long knife. The woman was screaming for help. Hawes, unarmed, did not stop but hurried to the sheriff's office.

Sheriff Leavitt and deputies went to the scene and found Mrs. Amistani's badly hacked body near an automobile. In the car was the mutilated body of Miss Fazio.

When he went to the Fazio home to notify the family, Leavitt found the bodies of the other three victims.

Neighbors had heard screams in the Fazio home and had informed Miss Fazio who was visiting at Mrs. Amistani's nearby home. The two women were driving in the direction of the girl's home when the killer apparently leaped upon the running board and began wielding his sharp knife, fashioned from a plane.

"Yes, sir."

"Did you ever have mud on your boots?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do you know how hard it is to get a dollar out of the soil?"

"Yes, sir."

"You know when you take this job you must swear to uphold the constitution."

"I've already done that."

"Without any mental reservation?"

"Yes."

"Are you the ace brain truster?"

"No, sir."

WILLIAMSON TRIAL OPENS IN CAPITAL

Four Jurors Chosen As Session Moves Slowly

By Robert P. Howard.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
Springfield, Ill., June 11.—(AP)—Only four jurors were agreed upon today for H. L. Williamson's conspiracy trial which opened with a slow session in Sangamon County Circuit court.

Prospective jurors were queried for the state by Walker Butler of Chicago, former assistant state's attorney of Cook county.

The action dragged as opposing attorneys carefully questioned the veniremen, only four of the first eighteen being accepted to hear the charges that Williamson, when he was superintendent of printing and Miss Nellie Machin, his secretary, conspired to defraud the state by padding the attorney general's payroll.

Eight prospective jurors were excused by the state's challenges, five by Defense Attorney A. M. Fitzgerald and one for cause by Circuit Judge Victor L. Hemphill.

While Butler acted as special prosecutor, J. J. Neizer, assistant attorney general, and Alfred H. Greenfield, state's attorney, took no active part in the case.

It was necessary to call on the special panel of 75 in efforts to fill the jury box and indications were that the taking of testimony could not be started before Wednesday at the earliest.

Butler told the jurors that Oscar E. Carlstrom, former attorney general, would be called as a witness.

Others under state subpoena include Herschel Blaser and E. R. Petrie, both of Alton, who are alleged to have received the money from pay warrants drawn through the attorney general's office and allegedly cashed by Williamson and Miss Machin.

For the defense, Fitzgerald repeatedly asked veniremen if they oppose persecution and believe the laws should be equally applied to all men.

He indicated the defense would contend the state administration is trying to single out Williamson for punishment.

Butler in turn asked if the prospective jurors would consider evidence against Williamson and Miss Machin if it developed that other persons, not indicted, were involved in the alleged conspiracy.

TREASURE HUNTER RESCUED.
San Diego, Calif., June 11.—(AP)—The rescue of an English treasure hunter on romantic Cocos Island was reported today by Captain Fred Lewis, owner and master of the yacht Stranger as he arrived in part at the end of an 83-day, 9,000 mile voyage to Equatorial waters.

The stranded treasure hunter was George Cooknell, who was found ill and out of food. He was taken aboard for the trip farther south.

OLD CHURCH BURNS.
Galena, Ill., June 11.—(AP)—The Prospect Hill Methodist church in Rice township, built 75 years ago with ox carts carrying the lumber to the scene of construction, was destroyed today by fire of undetermined origin. Many prominent ministers in the Methodist church, including Bishop John H. Vincent, had preached from the rostrum of the old church.

Highway Worker Is Given Help By Neighbors

Sac City, Ia., June 11.—(AP)—The Wycoff quadruplets quailed justly in their improvised incubator tonight while neighbors swamped Larry Wycoff, highway worker, with offers of assistance for his family of nine children.

The quadruplets, from two and a half pound Lorraine Delaine to four and a half pound Lester Dean, all were reported much stronger and Dr. G. H. Swearingen, who delivered them Saturday, was increasingly hopeful that all would survive.

The Wycoff home, where the 30-year-old mother was reported in satisfactory condition, was crowded with Sac City residents who brought offers of clothing, food and other necessities to stretch the father's $16 a week salary to care for the new arrivals.

Increase Feeding.
Corn syrup and milk continued as the diet of the quadruplets but their portion was increased to an average of about two teaspoonful each every hour and two, the boy and a girl, were switched to nipple feeding.

Since their birth they had been fed by means first of tubes and then by medicine droppers but Dr. Swearingen decided that Lester Dean and his three and a half-pound sister Lorraine Danene were doing well enough to go on to bottle feeding.

The other two children, Lorraine Danene, four pounds, and Lorraine Danene, two and a half pounds, made her the smallest of the quadruplets, were expected to be fed by dropper for a short time longer.

Dr. Swearingen moved the babies to his own home over the week-end and there arranged a temporary incubator by placing their baskets in a large single crib which then was covered with blankets. Electric light globes were placed under the blankets to supply heat.

The Wycoff home was without electric current and the change to the doctor's home was decided upon when heat was considered imperative, particularly for Lorraine.

It was believed the children had gained some weight but the amount still will be known until they are weighed tomorrow morning for the first time since birth.

TEGUICAPALA, Honduras, June 11.—(AP)—Heavy rainstorms throughout Honduras have caused many deaths, reports to the capital today said, and hundreds of persons who were able to escape from the rising waters of the rivers are stranded on the highlands.

While the scattered reports reaching Tegucigalpa made no estimate of the number of dead, a radio report received by the United Fruit company at Boston from a wireless operator at Guatemala said the entire village of Ocoatepe had been wiped out and 800 persons killed.

Tegucigalpa, while cut off by the storm, suffered less than the outlying districts with only two persons drowned. Relatively normal conditions had been restored here today, and government authorities were engaged in carrying out relief plans for the rest of the country.

The Uluu river rose more than 45 feet above its normal stage and spread out over the LaLima district.

The Blanco and Hunuya rivers flooded their areas, and the Cortes district and Ilima in the west were badly flooded.

BELGIUM, CZECHOSLOVAKIA WILL DEFAULT, CLAIM

Finland Only Nation To Announce Full Payment

Washington, June 11.—(AP)—Belgium and Czechoslovakia joined today in the parade of European war debtors who have informed the United States they will default on debt installments June 15.

Great Britain previously announced it will "defer" payment of installment of $261,791,011 it has falling due on that date.

Finland, which always has paid promptly and in full, is the only nation to announce it will pay its installment of $168,538 in cash in New York City Friday.

Ten other nations are to be heard from before the semi-annual due date.

Augusto Rosso, the Italian ambassador, called at the state department today and informed Undersecretary Phillips the Italian answer to the American "please remit" note would be delivered within the next two or three days. Italy owes $2,008,103,268 of which $28,428,005 is due Friday.

Paul May, the Belgian ambassador, in a note delivered at the state department late Saturday, informed this country Belgium would be unable at this time to pay anything on the $18,468,907 due June 15. Of that amount $11,309,453 is past due on previous installments and $7,159,454 becomes due June 15.

One resolution condemned the manner in which the American College of Physicians and Surgeons board of regents was reported to have acted on health insurance yesterday in Chicago. This criticism, as announced here, was directed at the manner rather than substance of the Chicago action.

The resolution was introduced to the American Medical Association house of delegates by Charles J. Whelan, M. D., of Illinois. Its text was not given out. Morris Fishbein, M. D., spokesman for the delegates, said it points out:

That the American Medical Association comprises 100,000 physicians; that it is the only body in this country representing the entire medical profession; that the association's house of delegates previously has condemned action by small groups of physicians, and finally that the Whelan resolution condemns the action of the board of regents of the American College of Surgeons in promulgating policies and plans "in anticipation of action by the house of delegates" at Cleveland.

DOCTORS ADOPT TWO FIGHTING RESOLUTIONS

Abolition Of Radio Advertising Is Favored

By Howard W. Blakeslee.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
Cleveland, June 11.—(AP)—Two fighting resolutions about health insurance and another proposing abolition of radio advertising of drugs and medicine were placed before the governing body of American medicine today.

Action on both subjects was deferred until tomorrow after they had been laid before the house of delegates of the American Medical Association at its opening sessions here today.

Another controversial subject—veterans' hospitalization—was put before the house in a report of the council on legislation, which condemned the passage by congress of a law providing free hospital care for veterans, regardless of whether their illness was incurred in service.

Medical men of the country should interest themselves in politics, the report said, urging members of the profession to "fally to their duty."

The health insurance resolutions were presented in executive sessions and there was no indication of the temper of the delegates, except hints of vigorous opinions. Action on this subject was set for a secret session of the house of delegates tomorrow afternoon.

One resolution condemned the manner in which the American College of Physicians and Surgeons board of regents was reported to have acted on health insurance yesterday in Chicago. This criticism, as announced here, was directed at the manner rather than substance of the Chicago action.

Administration's Silver Purchase Plan Passes U.S. Senate; Bonus Voted Down

CONGRESS WILL TRY TO FINISH WORK THIS WEEK

Washington, June 11.—(AP)—In rapid succession, the Senate tonight voted down a proposal for immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus certificates and passed the administration's silver purchase plan.

The two votes removed two of the measures that remained to be disposed of before adjournment.

The silver votes removed two of the measures that remained to be disposed of before adjournment.

The silver bill authorizes the administration to buy the silver and issue silver certificates until a fourth of the nation's money is backed by silver.

It goes back to the House for action on Senate amendments. These were expected to be approved without the usual conference delay to send the bill immediately to the White House for President Roosevelt's signed signature.

Despite days of debate and months of backstage negotiation and controversy, the silver bill was passed by the comfortable margin of 55 to 25, without acceptance of a single amendment opposed by the administration forces.

Reject Cash Bonus.
Only a few minutes earlier, the Senate had rejected the cash bonus amendment offered by Senator Shipstead (R-Minn.) by 51 to 31, without a word of debate. A bonus proposal was beaten early in the session by the more decisive margin of 64 to 34.

Eight republicans lined up with 46 democrats and Shipstead, the lone farmer-laborite, to pass the silver bill with 19 republicans and six democrats voting in opposition.

The entire silver bloc voted for the bill, even those Senators who had sought to amend it on the ground it would not change the status of silver as money. Among the six democratic Senators who voted against the bill was Carter Glass, Virginia's determined "sound money" advocate. It was the first monetary bill to go through the Senate under the Roosevelt "new deal" without debate from Glass.

On the bonus vote, eleven republicans combined with 19 democrats and Shipstead to favor the amendment. It was voted down by 17 republicans and 34 democrats.

Friends of the silver bill said during debate it would require purchase by the treasury of about 1,400,000,000 ounces of silver and the issuance of silver certificates against this in amount equal to the cost of the metal.

Estimates of possible inflation under this proposal ranged up to about $1,500,000,000, depending upon how far the president exercised the power conferred upon him.

Silver bought by the treasury would be paid for at the world price, but valued in the monetary stocks at $1.29 an ounce, the statutory price. True, if the silver purchased cost $500,000,000, silver certificates with a face value of that amount would have to be issued.

This, however, would use up only part of the new silver, as less than an ounce would be required for each dollar certificate under the $1.29 price. The president, if he desired, could use all the silver as a basis for silver certificate issuance.

Much of the debate, and most of the efforts to liberalize the bill centered about this plan of valuing the silver at $1.29 an ounce.

Senator Thomas (D-Okla.) offered an amendment to provide for its valuation in the treasury at the market price, which he said would make silver a "primary money." The proposal was rejected 65 to 17.</

Fined a Fortune

Jenny Dolis, member of a dancing troupe in Paris, was fined $750,000 in a French court recently for failure to pay luxury taxes on her 50-carat diamond. She bought the diamond for $300,000 in Cannes in 1926. The tax at that time would have been about $100,000.

The lady has already lost $200,000 in her diamond deal. Now she must pay three-quarters of a million because she failed to pay $25,000. She was also given a three-day jail sentence, but that was suspended. What the French will do if she does not pay her fine has not been stated.

It would have been much better if the dancer had not bought the diamond. But the fine does seem rather excessive. Income taxes and penalties in the United States are not that high, but they are still high enough that the government can use them to kill a gangster now and then. If they were as high as French fines, some of our millionaires might have to go to jail.

Russian Severity

At Kiev, Russia, seven persons were sentenced to death for stealing money from the Agricultural service. Several others were sent to prison for one to ten years. The amount of money stolen could not have been very much, and the death sentence for such a crime seems rather severe.
Sounds like the old English habit of hanging folks for minor crimes. But the English people have gotten away from those barbarities.

However, the Russian takes his government seriously, and offenses against his new state are more important than crimes against individuals. In fact a mere human being amounts to little under Communism.
Killing off a few public offenders is taken as a matter of course.

A government that finds its power in harshness and cruelty cannot succeed for long; it makes too many enemies. Even tho its power may be absolute, someone will be found someday with courage enough to overthrow it.

The Russian, of course, takes his cue from the government that ruled him for centuries. It was hard and cruel, and there has not been sufficient liberalizing influence in Russia to overcome the tendency. A recent speaker said that Russia shut up her dreamers and they have now turned the nation upside down. Maybe the killing of seven men for stealing is part of the process.

Why Secession?

The Texas Weekly in the current issue brings up a question which few historians have explained. Just why did the southern states secede from the Union? The Texas paper contends that slavery was not directly responsible, and that secession would really have hampered the slave traffic.

The reasons for secession are to be found in the Confederate constitution.
It was copied after the original federal Constitution. It provided a single six-year term for the president, and had a new preamble. But the main difference lay in three provisions that cannot be found in the national Constitution: first, prohibition of the levying of tariff duties to protect any one form of industry; second, prohibition of the payment of bounties; and third, prohibition of Federal appropriations for internal improvements within the states.

Those provisions in the Confederate constitution banned the protective tariff, bounties and "pork barrels," things from which the country is still suffering. The Texas paper charges that narrow sectionalism saddled these things on the South, and says that part of the country is still suffering from those evils.

However, it is a fair question to ask whether the south is not striving for sectional privileges. There are parts of the south where protective tariffs are popular, in sugar-growing Louisiana, where a high tariff on sugar is demanded, and in Texas itself, where a tariff on oil would not cause objection.

The trouble with the tariff is it is a local issue, which is why it stays in politics and is not placed in an economic category where it rightly belongs. The Constitution under which we live says nothing about a protective tariff and makes provision for customs duties simply as a means of raising revenue.

Sweet Potato Mucilage

Chemists of the Department of Agriculture have discovered how to make mucilage of sweet potatoes. A good deal of mucilage is used in the United States, and most of it is imported. A grant of $10,000, made by the Emergency Relief Administration, is to be used to establish a plant for the production of sweet potato mu-cilage in Laurel, Miss. This first one will not be large. The government alone, it is said, could use more than the proposed output.

This doubtless means that some of the southern acres taken out of cotton or other crop production will be turned to sweet potato fields. The foreign countries from which we have been getting much of our mucilage may not like the idea, but perhaps there will be enough increased demand for mucilage everywhere to take up all that is manufactured.

Industrial use of agriculture surpluses has long been recognized as one of the sounder methods of solving certain farm problems, and this is such a development.

Origin of the Swastika

From the Washington Star.
The origin of the swastika remains enveloped in mystery. The active interest in archeology might develop some theory to the effect that it is some aboriginal art interpretation of a double-spiral boomerang.

Short Cake Code Needed

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.
The home-grown berry season is at its height, and again the distressing question as to the correctness of strawberry shortcake comes up for discussion. Obviously the new dealers have not done their duty by the great body of strawberry shortcake consumers. They are left out on a limb, so to speak, unprotected and at the mercy of the shortcake chiselers, those unscrupulous gypsies who put "short-cake" on the menu and then, like as not, serve you with a couple of layers of spongecake and meringue, with a few defunct-looking strawberries scattered between and on top.

What the strawberry shortcake consumers demand is a strawberry short-cake code.

It is not proposed to standardize shortcake. That, of course, cannot be done. Cooks bearing such names as Rochefoucault, Schnorrhauser, Gar-baldi, or Hop Lunk cannot be expected to come up to the mark. And tastes do differ. Life Tennessee and his partner and their dispute over saleratus in the biscuits.

SO THEY SAY!

Let our young men pass on from their detestation of war to a personal crusade to strengthen every international agency designed to prevent it.

Our conflict is not with individual men, but with established systems, enrenched customs, habitual attitudes, vested interests, and false standards of life.

lege.

ering their attitude of aggression

To the Editor of The

Hollywood, Calif., June 11—Well no good news along the steel front. Both unions are stalling tight. The Amalgamated Iron Steel and Tin Workers union against the Iron and Steel Institute. Both unions organized for the members protection against the other.

It does look like there is some fair men in this country who both sides would be willing to leave it to, well if it comes to the worst we can do like some old famous queen in Paris when she said "Let me eat cake" we can build it out of wood instead of steel. Dillinger did.

BERNARD HUSTON TO RECEIVE DEGREE AT COLLEGE IN MICHIGAN

Bernard Huston, a 1930 Covert High school graduate, will receive his Bachelor of Arts degree at the eighty-fourth annual commencement exercises of Hillsdale College, Hillsdale, Mich. His constant and successful participation in various forensic activities, figures well for the lawyer's career he is anticipating. He is expecting to do graduate work next year in the law school of one of the eastern universities.

Mr. Huston's high school record in debating and sports has been duplicated on the Hillsdale campus. In the three years he has been a member of the debate team, he has made two extended arguing tours, one to New York City in his sophomore year and another this spring to Washington, D. C.
To make this touring squad once is the ambition of every Hillsdale debater. Mr. Huston has also won a first place in the peace oratorical contest, and placed among the top-four in this year's state extemporaneous speaking contest in which fifteen colleges participated. He was awarded second place in the annual Alpha Kappa Phi debate in 1932.

As a member of the baseball nine,
Mr. Huston has been consistently prominent in the college's athletics.
In his second year he was the team's second baseman, and last year its shortstop. He was also a member of the 1930 freshman basketball squad.
His two achievements in these two sports have automatically made him a member of the H-club, an organization of men who win college letters for excellence in athletics.

Other campus activities which have interested him are the International Relations club, and The Collegian, the weekly newspaper, of which he has been a staff member during the past year.

As a freshman Mr. Huston was initiated into Tau chapter of Delta

The clean Center Leaves are the mildest leaves

They Taste Better!

We like telling you that Luckies are made of only clean center leaves. For the clean center leaves are the mildest leaves—they cost more—they taste better. And we're proud of the fact that these choice tobaccos receive the benefit of Lucky Strike's famous process—"It's toasted!" for throat protection. But here's a point that's just as impressive: Luckies are round, firm, fully packed with long golden strands of fine tobacco—no loose ends. That's why Luckies "keep in condition"—why you'll find that Luckies do not dry out. Truly, Luckies are all-ways kind to your throat.

Dr. Thomas Conveys Message of Hope to Illinois Graduates

The fact that evil has been done in the past, that mistakes have been made, and that wrongs have been repeated, is no reason why men should continue to do evil or make mistakes. This was the gist of the message delivered Sunday morning by Dr. John T. Thomas, pastor of First Presbyterian church, Springfield, in his baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of Illinois college.

Dr. Thomas spoke before an audience that filled Westminster Presbyterian church. Appropriate and well-executed music was furnished by the women's glee club of the college.

Dr. Thomas based his discourse on two texts one from the first chapter of Ecclesiastes, "There is nothing new under the sun," and the other from the book of Revelations, "Behold I make all things new." He explained that these two verses are apparent contradictions, but that the Bible, which records the sins of men without discrimination, also records their false thinking. The preacher in Ecclesiastes has arrived at the conclusion that "all is vanity and vexation of spirit," but his premises and conclusion are by no means accurate.

World Is Better Now

It may be true that things have been done in the past that were not right, but that is no reason why they should continue to be done. There is plenty of evidence to show that the world is better than it used to be.

Dr. Thomas quoted from ancient records, back as far as 2800 B. C. to show that people were then talking of the "good old days." Ancient writers told of disobedient children, bad manners, disrespect for law, and complained that "everybody wants to write a book." These musty passages sound strangely familiar.

Dr. Thomas said that 106 years ago John Wesley wrote of a visit he made in the home of a friend. He was much shocked to find the young daughter much changed. She had been to a "modern school," and had received what Wesley considered much bad doctrine. People are talking about the present time much as they talked about the "good old days" in those very days present day pessimists now consider so wonderful.

"Dr. Thomas explained to the graduates that they could not live in the past; neither is it possible for anyone to live much in the future. "The present is your hope," he said, "you are not bound by pessimism of Ecclesiastes, but the promise of Revelation is, it is possible to 'make all things new,' to improve your own lives and make the world better."

"You Can Succeed"

"You ask how it is possible, and I answer, by the Grace of God. If you mould your lives to right principles and follow the hope that is within you, you can succeed. Every good can be done by the grace of God, a spiritual power God is ready and willing to give you if you will accept it, a power you can use to the utmost to build a better world."

The program of the baccalaureate service was as follows:

Processional, Allegro Moderato (Volckmar)—Mrs. Elizabeth Martin. Call to Worship, Congregation standing—The Reverend William C. Meeker, A. B.

Doxology. Anthem, Dearest Lord Jesus (Bach) Illinois College Women's Glee Club. Director, Mrs. Helen Brown Read.

Scripture Reading—The Reverend Glen J. Schillerstrom, A. B. Prayer—The Reverend W. Arthur Richards, A. M.

Anthem, Dear Land of Home—(Sibelius)—Women's Glee Club. Announcements—President Harold Clarence Jaquith, LL. D.

Hymn, Dear Lord and Father of Mankind (Whitfield). Baccalaureate Sermon—The Reverend John T. Thomas, A. B. D. D. First Presbyterian church, Springfield, Ill.

The Centennial Hymn—(MacClintock).

Benediction—The Reverend William C. Meeker, A. B. Recessional, Festal March (Faules)—Mrs. Elizabeth Martin.

Dr. Arthur Rider is Speaker at Vespers

Sunday evening, promptly at seven o'clock, the Vesper service of Illinois College was held in the college grove with President H. C. Jaquith, presiding. The address was delivered by Dr. Arthur Rider of Los Angeles, California, an alumnus of Illinois College.

Long before this hour the alumni friends and students gathered until several hundred were present. This time honored service, held according to custom, under the historic elms, is one filled with sentiment for all alumni and friends of the college and typifies the ideals upon which the college was founded.

President Jaquith opened the meeting with Scripture reading from St. Matthew, the 5th chapter and following the evening prayer a musical program was beautifully given, which was also an inspiring part of the program. The double male quartet under the direction of Prof. W. Z. Fletcher, gave a group of selections. The Girls Glee Club, directed by Mrs. Helen Brown Read sang: "The Day is Dying in the West"; Devere Brockhouse, as a solo number sang: "The Living God" by musical Geoffrey O'Hara. Mr. Hugh Beggs was the accompanist for this program.

Dr. Arthur Rider in his opening remarks said: "A message from the Vesper services comes from the 'Temple of Hills' ringing with music, love and endeavor, with tradition so splendidly maintained, that all hearts go out in cooperation. There is some sadness connected with this scene for some because of the apprehension for the future and the results of the past. Many ask the question, what was the result? What should the college life and education mean?"

What College Should Stand For

Dr. Rider quoted the three points which are eminently worth while and what a college should stand for: namely, "Learning, Friendship, and Religion." "The first," he said, "opens the doors of the world to treasures which enrich life. America's greatest contribution to the world must not be entirely industrial or mechanical. Where are the artists, the essayists, the philosophers, and musicians? The world needs learning and minds crave the best, best literature and ideals."

Dr. Rider quoted Dr. Alcott, the father of Louisa M. Alcott, who spoke at Illinois College in the student days of Dr. Aider, as saying: "A student should be a lad who was hungry in a strange place, his mind."

Dr. Rider said that when a college had created this appetite for intellectual food, it has fulfilled its mission.

The second point necessary for a worthwhile college life, the speaker said, "Is the creating of friendships not only amongst the students but with the faculty. In order to be a real friend, self must decrease, and then true friendship will exist." Dr. Rider said that the friendship formed in his student days with President Sturtevant, President Tanner, and acting President Crampton had enriched his life because their characters exemplified the truths of literature, history, philosophy and religion which they taught and therefore their lives and their friendship was an inspiration.

Religion as the third point necessary for a rich college life, Dr. Rider said "Should not be of creeds or doctrines. If we think that is all we are mistaken. It must be filled with life, love and faith, as the qualities which sustain us through trials. Which give us the true ideals of life. If these are in college life then the richest treasures are the students and they are equipped to live in the maize of the world's activities and have a life of service."

Following a selection given by a mixed chorus from the Glee Clubs, the benediction was pronounced by Dr. Rider, which closed an impressive service.

Oscar Hewitt Pays Visit to This City

A distinguished visitor to Jacksonville on Sunday was Oscar Hewitt, former widely-known newspaper writer attached to the Chicago Tribune, but more recently devoting his energies to the duties of commissioner of public works for the City of Chicago.

Mr. Hewitt, passing through Jacksonville en route to Alton near which his mother resides, stopped over in the city for a visit with his long-time friend Dr. C. St. Clair Drake, at the Jacksonville State hospital, and at the same time to renew acquaintance with the hospital and its operations with which he was actively identified as an "attendant" while he was a student at Illinois College in this city some thirty odd years ago.

Chicago Pastor Pleads For Voice Of Youth At I. C. Graduation Here

"When you members of the graduating class come to the point in life where you feel that you must speak out for what you know to be right, I plead with you in the name of God to stand straight up in your boots and speak for righteousness. If you speak, you will save your soul; but if your voice is muted, you will lose your soul."

With these stirring words Dr. Walter Amos Morgan, pastor of the New First Congregational church, Chicago, concluded his address Monday at the annual commencement of Illinois College. "The Tragedy of Muted Voices," was his theme, and the thought was based on the story of Amos, the young prophet who would not let his voice be muted 700 years before the Christian era.

Amos, the speaker declared, was a dreamer. He went up to Jerusalem with the hope of finding happiness, but what he saw there shocked him deeply. He returned to his native hills, and one day at Bethel, when the worshippers came from church, they found a young man saying strange things. He told them the nation was doomed because the people had turned to formalism—their religion was only a pretense. The nation was doomed, because its judges were sold, and justice had to be paid for. It was doomed because its dreamers had been told to keep their mouths shut.

Selfishness stifles dreams. "Dreamers," Dr. Morgan said, "have always been told to shut up. The nation that chokes its dreamers and tells its youth to keep still, is doomed, according to Amos. There is enough idealism welling up in the heart of every community to make it a paradise of God, but it is choked by selfishness."

"Dreamers' voices are often muted by neglect. Today you have thoughts you can never adequately express. Life will press upon you and the flowers that grow in your thought garden may never be plucked and given to the world. We often neglect to speak, and the world loses much. We think of a new social order and dare to hope for a state in which men and women will not bear the burden of war. But cares and hardships make us neglect to speak."

"The voice of the dreamer is often muted by ridicule. Older people laugh at the young man or woman who has dreams of the future. 'You are only a kid, is an expression that dampens the ardor of the youthful spirit and makes young people wonder if they ought to think of progress, and if they do think that they should keep their thoughts to themselves. Perhaps I've laughed at muted many a voice."

"The voice of the dreamer is too often choked. Older people come and tell him that others are looking askance. He will lose his position, his job if he dares to advocate progress. Many a man has stifled his voice to hold his position. They told Amos to go somewhere else and prophesy, and threatened to kill him if he did not leave. Many a man has gone to prison because he would not shut up. In Russia they sent the dreamers to Siberia, but the time came when they could no longer shut up the dreamers of Russia, and they have turned the old czarist nation upside down. Not safe to choke youth."

"It is not safe to choke the youth of a nation and to shut up its dreamers. I can recall in my own life three experiences that help me to see the value of the voice that is not muted. I have often visited the Lincoln memorial in Washington. I did not know then that the great Lincoln got some of his ideas from this very college. How much poorer the nation would have been if his voice had been muted! But he dared to speak. Read the second inaugural address and you will find the heart of America speaking to the rest of America."

"I sometimes return to the old college where I graduated 23 years ago, and there come to me the memories of those ideals gained on the campus and in the classroom. Returning to the college will help you to keep your ideals alive and ready to utter when you have the chance."

"In the Gospel story I find the greatest example of the voice that was not muted. Jesus dared to speak, and today the world is richer for His life and words, and the things he said in the Sermon on the Mount continue to echo and vibrate thru the lives and hearts of men."

Confer Honorary Degrees
A male chorus of college students furnished two selections. The invocation was pronounced by Dr. J. T. Thomas of Springfield, upon whom the college conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity. Upon Mendal Garbutt Frampton of the class of 1898, the college conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

President H. C. Jaquith made his annual report during the program, and Dr. George E. Baxter of Chicago, president of the Board of Trustees, also made a statement. Both appear in another part of this issue.

MANCHESTER BEATS MORGAN INDEES BY SCORING QUICKLY

Strengthened Tigers Pull Hidden Ball Trick Two Times to Nip Indees—Fryman Keeps Local Club From Swinging War Clubs.

A four run attack in the first two innings gave the Manchester A. & M. Tigers a 5-2 decision over the Morgan Indees in a well-played Illinois Valley League game Sunday at the Nichols Park diamond. The winners getting to Ed Lawless before he was thoroughly warmed up to get their winning margin. Fryman, flinger for the Tigers, allowed only seven hits, and received almost sensational support from the revamped A. & M. infield.

A pair of singles, coupled with Clarence Jewsbury's miscue on a pop fly back of second, gave the Tigers two runs in the first inning, and another pair of singles coupled with Bubun's overthrow of first brought in two more runs in the second. From then on they were unable to do anything with Lawless' slants until the ninth when they collected another run on a pair of singles and a fielder's choice.

Twice pulling the hidden ball trick to catch Morgan Indee runners off bases, and Tigers went all over the lot to catch flies and grounders. The Morgan club also went all around the lot picking up hard driven balls, but two of their three miscue's cost runs. Bubun scored one of the Morgan runs after tripping to left, and Lewis poked out a homer in right field to score the second run.

With one down in the first, Peck's pop fly back of second jumped out of Clarence Jewsbury's glove to let Peck get on the initial corner. He moved around to third on "Pop-Eye" Hudson's single. Hudson later going to second without a play being made. P. Haney drove a single to right field, and two runs scored.

In the second, Whitlock got on when Bubun threw wildly to first, went to third on Fryman's single to right, and scored on Peck's single. Fryman was run down between second and third, when Lakin got on through a fielder's choice, and Lakin also scored on Peck's blow.

Lakin marked up the final tally for the Tigers in the ninth when he took first on a fielder's choice, stole second, and beat a throw to the plate by inches after Peck's single to right. The Morgan Indees flared up with a rally to open the ninth, getting two men on bases, but a fielder's choice and two pop flies ended the threat.

Fryman was almost invincible despite the fact that the Indees poked his offerings considerably. They couldn't hit when hits meant runs, and the Manchester infield back him up with sparkling play.

LOCAL INDEES WIN FROM WINCHESTER IN 12 FRAME GO

Three Run Rally In 12th Gives Local Club 4-2 Decision Before Large Crowd—Cumby Strikes Out 13 Men.

Winchester, June 11.—(Special)—A three run rally in the 12th inning, born on a series of attempts to sacrifice, gave the Jacksonville Indees their straight win in the Illinois Valley baseball conference here Sunday afternoon, after Winchester had come from behind to tie the score in the eighth inning. Cumby, Winchester pitcher, struck out 13 men, but could not check the Jacksonville rally in the final frame when two errors by his team-mates put Indee runners on base.

Jacksonville got a run in the first inning when Jerry Burkery singled down first base line, stole second, went to third on a passed ball, and scored on a wild pitch. That was the only run Winchester gave up for 10 straight innings while Winchester was going scoreless seven frames despite several scoring opportunities.

Anders and Edinger rapped out consecutive doubles to score the tying run in the Winchester half of the eighth, after two men were down. Jacksonville threatened to score in the eleventh when McCormick got on through an error, but he was thrown out trying to steal second base. Sellers' single coming too late to aid the cause.

Cumby, first up in the 12th, got on through an error by Davis and stole second. Lynch got on through an error at first base. Cumby scoring. Wagner laid a bunt down the third base line Lynch speeding to third, Wagner later moving up to second without a play. Fisher popped out, but McCormick came through with a single to center which sent two runs scampering over the plate.

With one down in the Winchester half of the 12th, Priest singled to left, and Cumby drove a single into center, Priest going to third. Smith dropped Little's fly to center, Priest scoring, but the Indee centerfielder recovered the ball and fired it to second in time to catch Cumby. Anders rolled out to end the game.

TWILIGHT LOOP TO GET UNDERWAY IN ONE WEEK IS PLAN

Teams Almost Ready to Go, But Want More Time to Line-up Talent—Four Teams Enter Race for Crown—Plan to Play Twice Weekly.

Jacksonville Twilight league ball players, who plan to play at the Nichols Park diamond this year, will be ready to go next week, according to plans laid down at a meeting of managers last night at Len Magill's office on East State street. The managers have practically completed their line-ups, but additional time was granted to two managers who wanted additional time to line up more talent.

Rosters of the Jacksonville Indees and the Myers Brothers Clothiers were virtually complete, but managers of the Fox Theaters and Red and White teams asked additional time to get players. Both the Fox and Red and White team have full line-ups, but are desirous of getting players upon whom they can depend.

The first league game will be played June 21 and the second game June 22 according to the present plans, and from then on the teams will play twice weekly. No schedule has been drawn up as yet, but will be prepared at the next meeting, scheduled for two nights before the opening of the season, June 19.

Games will be called at 5:30 o'clock, and the teams will play seven innings if possible. Frank Smith is managing the Indee enter, Red Murgatroyd and Sparky Adams are the guiding lights behind the Red and White line-up. Jimmy Lakin has charge of the Myers Brothers team, and Len Magill will be back of the Fox Theater set-up.

MAY PURCHASE ST. PAUL TEAM

St. Paul, June 11.—(P)—Completion of a deal whereby the St. Paul baseball franchise in the American Association would be purchased from R. J. Connelly, present owner, by local capital is expected within the next 24 hours, it was reported today.

The committee of business men who are trying to find a buyer has made excellent progress, it was said. "The price placed on the club by Mr. Connelly is regarded as such a fair one that it is believed some local financier can be interested without much trouble," a member of the committee said today.

Peoria, Ill., also has made a bid for the club, which Connelly had indicated he wishes to move or sell because of poor attendance.

Illinois College Sprinter to Compete at Los Angeles in National Collegiate Meet

George Baker who this year tied the world's record or 60 yards indoors, and who was clocked in 9.7 seconds for the 100 yard dash and 21.4 seconds over the 220 yard straightaway, has been selected as one of the representatives of the middle west for the National Collegiate Athletic Association track and field championship meet, June 22-23 it was announced yesterday at the meeting of the Illinois College Alumni association.

Baker, who hails from Diverson, said yesterday that he would make the trip to the west coast if it was in any way possible. He will receive train fare to and from this city to Los Angeles, where the National Collegiate meet will be held in the Olympic Stadium, but will have to pay his personal expenses during the trip.

The blond flier, who has been starring on the Illinois College teams for the past four years as a sprinter, yesterday received his degree from the college. He is the first athlete to be selected from Illinois College to participate in the national meet, and his selection came as a glorious climax to a great career on the campus.

Athletic Director LaRue Van Meter entered Baker as one of the possible representatives of the middle west with T. N. Metcalf, of the University of Chicago. Baker's record was found to be among the best in the middle west, and notification of his selection was received yesterday. Baker was entered in the 100 yard and 220 yard dashes.

There has been no break in Baker's training since the close of the college season, the speed boy keeping in shape on the chance that he might be selected to make the trip. Baker was ruled off the track earlier in the season because of high blood pressure, but got into shape in time to compete in the Little 19 championship meet. There he won both the 100 yard dash and 220 yard dash, marking up the best times of his college career, despite the fact that none of the preliminaries or finals was he able to get off to a good start.

In the letter which accompanied the notification of Baker's selection the following statement appeared, indicating the interest which track meets stir up on the west coast: "Advance interest in this meet has been so great that the local management is expected within the next 24 hours, it was reported today."

CARROLLTON GETS FIRST RAIN SINCE EASTER

Rainfall Brings Relief To Greene County; Other News of Interest

Carrollton, Ill., June 11.—After four successive days of sweltering heat with the mercury ranging from ninety to over one hundred degrees, Carrollton got a change Saturday and it also got the first rain of any amount over a light sprinkle since Easter Sunday. Friday night after a burning day clouds approached here near midnight and a light shower fell, at about 3 a. m. Saturday another light rain came, both were accompanied with thunder and lightning, but no damage has been reported. It is estimated that later about .60 inches of rain fell during the day, which is more than double the amount of rain fell during the entire month of May. Rain again started falling at 8 o'clock and it came down in showers all Saturday night. In all it is figured about an inch of rain fell and while it is a great relief, much more is needed to improve crop conditions here, much heavier rains have fallen south and west of this city and last Friday a wind storm of almost cyclonic proportions passed over a narrow path just east of Eldred and went up thru a hollow towards the north. Much damage was done by the wind on the George Logan farm where a barn was torn down. It is reported that another barn north of the Logan place was also wrecked and that many trees were blown down. The reports on crops as to conditions caused by drought and weather and insects. Farmers east of this city state that wheat on good ground is in fairly good condition. MASON CITY WINS FROM JUNIOR BALL TEAM BY 9 TO 4

In preparing for the strong Galesburg American Legion Junior Baseball team which plays here for the convention loving cup against the Jacksonville boys next Saturday, June 16, the Jacksonville American Legion Junior baseball team journeyed to Mason City, Ill., Sunday to play the aggregation of Woods brothers and brother-in-laws, namely the Mason City Red Birds who have met but two defeats this season, once by the Pekin Grays and once by a Peoria team.

The Jacksonville boys got the jump on the Red Birds in the first inning. Shay walked, Isaacs was called out on strikes, Beemer came through with a single advancing Shay to third. Shay scored on an error by Shortstop Woods. Beemer struck out and Ransom grounded out pitcher to first.

In the third inning, Isaacs grounded out pitcher to first; Beemer grounded out third to first; Brown and Beemer walked, Ransom hit safely scoring Brown. Beemer stopped on third, Ransom pulling at it second, Stanley Davis hit a long fly to right field for three bases, scoring Beemer and Ransom. Ketter struck out, retiring the side.

An error by Isaacs and one by Ketter in the third inning was responsible for the Red Birds run in their half of the third.

B. Woods walked to open their half of the fourth. H. Woods singled advancing B. Woods to third and a triple by the Shortstop Woods scored B. and H. Woods. Shortstop Woods scored as T. Summers grounded out, Davis to Ketter, and Taylor grounded out to Lair, retiring the side.

The Legion boys helped the Red Birds on even terms until the seventh inning when with one down, Stanley Davis' error at second base on an attempted double play started the fireworks and with one out the Red Birds scored 8 runs on four hits. Leach went to relieve Lair at this point and finished the game retiring the Red Birds in good order, striking out H. Woods and T. Summers, allowing one hit.

HORNSBY WILL PLAY OUTFIELD

St. Louis, June 11.—(AP)—American League pitchers are in for some unhappy afternoons and sleepless nights for old Rogers Hornsby is going to return to regular duty—this time in the outfield.

As soon as his wrist, injured by one of Mel Harder's pitches in Cleveland recently, improves sufficiently the Rajah will take over the right field job for his St. Louis Browns, at least when a southpaw is on the firing line for the enemy. And if all goes well, he'll be in there every afternoon.

Idle in New York today, the Rajah had time to worry about the recent perceptible decline in the Browns' attack and what to do about it. The "what" he decided, was for him to take over the right field post, at least against left handeders.

In seven games against the White Sox and Indians, the Browns hit only 258, in contrast to the better than 300 pace during their long stand at home.

Except for one game at third base, Hornsby's playing activities this season have been confined to pinch hitting.

GEORGE PIPGRAS RETIRES
Boston, June 11.—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox today placed George Pipgras, veteran right-handed pitcher, on the voluntary retired list for the rest of the season. He has entered a hospital to undergo his second operation on his pitching arm since last August.

Pipgras, one of the first players purchased by Tom Yawkey and Eddie Collins in the rebuilding of the Red Sox, was hampered by a chipped elbow last season. He has not been able to start a game this season and X-rays recently revealed a growth was cramping his elbow.

The hurler, who was the property of the Red Sox back in 1921, was purchased from the New York Yankees, along with Bill Werber, early in the 1933 season. Most of his major league service was with the Yankees and his nine-year record was 102 victories and 72 defeats.

FAVORS CARNERA
San Francisco, June 11.—(AP)—Jim Jeffries, former heavyweight champion, believes Primo Carnera will retain his title when he meets Max Baer.

"Even if Baer is in the best condition I don't think he'll punch straight enough to hit Carnera," Jeffries said today. "I expect to see most of Baer's swings wash up harmlessly on the big fellow's shoulders."

"Carnera, I think is a better boxer than Baer. My only regret is that they were not around 30 years ago."

George Baker whose pounding feet equalled the world record time of 6.1 seconds for 60 yards in an indoor meet, and who has been striding faster than ever this year, is going to run in the National Collegiate track and field championships.

Baker merited the selection as one of the middle western boys to make the trip. There probably is no faster sprinter in this section of the country than the local lad. Ralph Metcalf, of Marquette, probably will be another of the middle western selections, but aside from these two boys, finding college sprinters capable of breaking 9.8 in the hundred, and 21.5 in the 220 is a job these days.

The National Collegiate, we understand, are run over the American measurements, and not the English measurements adopted by a number of meets. We doubt that running over the longer English measured courses would affect Baker's time, because he is capable of turning in a 440 yard dash in around 50 seconds, which indicates that he doesn't fade over the longer routes.

Baker didn't want anything said about his selection to the middle western contingent, because he is by nature a rather retiring lad when it comes to speaking of his own accomplishments. But the rest of his classmates wouldn't let the honor go unnoticed.

They are playing better baseball in this Illinois Valley circuit now. Ball teams are beginning to get into shape.

PRESSHOG PRICES 15
TO 25 HIGHER

Chicago, June 11.—(P)—Livestock prices swept upward today, hogs mounting 15 to 25 cents and more, cattle 25 to 50 cents higher in instances and fat lambs 25 cents up. There was a sharp curtailment of marketings at principal slaughtering centers, indicating improved conditions in producing territory.

Hog supplies here even fell below normal and as a result the top reached $4.00, the highest price since April 28. Traders felt the downward trend in hog prices that began early in March when the average price was $4.56 has at last been broken. A year ago last week hogs cost $4.62.

Today's live receipts were only 22,000, and about 8,000 of these came direct. Traders had expected 35,000, while a week ago 58,000 were handled. The day's run of 9,000 cattle, which was below average, was absorbed readily at prices generally 25 cents higher although there were instances of higher quotations being paid. The top hit $9.75 for best steers. There were very few thin cattle available and killers competed for poorer fresh offerings avidly. Drought cattle, of which few were marketed, brought better prices.

The supply of fat lambs was very light and prices for these went up 25 cents, sheep and yearlings remaining steady. The run totaled 7,000, which was about half the anticipated offering and lighter than average for the day.

WHEAT PRICES
UP SLIGHTLY

By John P. Boughan
Associated Press Market Editor
Chicago, June 11.—(P)—Responsive to advice that rains northwest had brought about less improvement of the crop outlook than was expected, wheat values averaged a little higher today.

Scantiness of general speculative demand, however, made price gains difficult to hold, and in the end the wheat market was virtually where it left off on Saturday. Meanwhile, the movement of newly harvested wheat in the southwest became larger. Enid (Oklahoma) receiving today 81 cars and Wichita (Kansas) 25 cars.

Wheat closed irregular, 1/2 off to 1/4 up compared with Saturday's finish. Corn 1/2 advance, oats at a decline to 1/4 gain, and provisions showing a rise of 5 to 10 cents.

A show of strength at the outset lifted wheat to virtually $1.00 for September contracts, but selling increased at that stage, and the market at no time got above 1.00, just a cent over Saturday's latest quotation. On the other hand, declines of a cent at times led to noticeable transient enlargements of buying and to rallies, especially as the day neared an end. Throughout the day, the market appeared to be unusually susceptible to the influence of moderating operations on either the buying or the selling side.

Bears in wheat laid stress on assertions that the worst damage to crops was already done, and that a belief future conditions would cause little change had made the market less attractive to speculators, especially at above $1.00 for September. An opposite factor was indications of a possible wet harvest in the southwest should the tropical storm moving rapidly northward reach Kansas. At least temporary dearth of buying enthusiasm, however, was an evident curb on price advances notwithstanding that in some quarters the crop prospect for soft winter wheat from Missouri east was looked upon as disappointing.

Corn and oats prices were relatively firm, influenced by reports that chinch bugs were becoming a serious menace to corn.

Provisions reflected material upturns of hog values.

Annabell Moore is Bride of Mr. Seamon

On Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, Miss Annabell Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Moore, 206 Caldwell street, became the bride of Joseph M. Seamon, of Granite City.

The ceremony was solemnized at Jane Hall, MacMurray college, before the immediate families of the bride couple, with Pres. C. P. McClelland officiating. They were attended by Miss Irene Trayman and Cordell Moore.

The bride was attired in a lovely gown of white and blue and carried a bouquet of white roses and blue delphinium. Miss Trayman, as bridesmaid was gowned in brown and white.

Mrs. Seamon graduated from MacMurray college in the class of 1931, and has been supervisor of public school music in Wood River and Roxana, Illinois. While a student at MacMurray college she was a member of Phi Nu society and was active in many organizations.

Mr. Seamon was graduated from Illinois college in the class of 1930. At present he is a teaching assistant and is teaching at Madison, Illinois. He was a member of Gamma Nu society, Illinois college and was president of that organization. During his student days he took an active part in all departments of the college life.

Mr. and Mrs. Seamon left at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon for Michigan. Upon their return they will go to Champagne where he will attend the University of Illinois and will work on his masters degree, which was started at the University of Iowa last year.

Dr. Marsh Speaks at Open Air Services

The first of the summer union services to be held in the open air was well attended. Rev. E. A. Hedges presided at the meeting and Dr. T. H. Marsh, in his own unique and interesting manner, brought a challenge to his listeners.

Basing his sermon on the eighteenth chapter of II Chronicles, he called attention to the lone prophet, Micaiah, who refused to follow the multitude of prophets, who had prophesied victory to the king. He said that it is not always good to follow the mob, and pointed out that the failure of prohibition is laid to the threshold of the church people because they followed the dictates of the mob.

He pointed out that nationalism must not be placed above individual conscience, and that in the next epoch of the world we will be ruled by one of two Jews: Jesus Christ or Karl Marx. We were on the border of the land of promise when the depression came, and because we feared the giants of poverty, anarchy, we are now again wandering in the desert. Real character and courage, he said, are forced in times of difficulty, and that now is a time for a real prophet to call forth, that the spirit of sacrifice, and the spirit of Christ, shall not pass from the earth, and that there is not only need for a leader but for followers who will conscientiously endeavor to serve Jesus.

Special music for the service was furnished by the Men's chorus of Grace church.

DIES OF RABBIT FEVER

West Frankfort, Ill., June 11—The first fatality from rabbit fever in Franklin county this year has been recorded here with the death of Mrs. W. E. Drinker, 43, who contracted the disease four months ago.

CHAPTER FORTY-ONE

He sat opposite her now, a small, nervously energetic man, with crisp gray hair and keen, penetrating blue eyes that smiled at her from behind silver-rimmed glasses.

"I wonder if your husband has ever mentioned the fact that I have asked him to take a short trip abroad with me?" He sat back in his chair and asked the question quietly.

"Why, no," she answered, "he certainly never has."

"I thought not."

Maynard continued to smile at her. Then he went on speaking in the clear, concise voice, which he had cultivated years before and which had proved very useful to him ever since.

"I've been urging your husband to take this trip with me for two weeks. Mrs. Northrup, and he has proved as obstinate as the proverbial mule. Now I'm depending on you to convince him that it's the sensible thing to do. I have to make a flying trip to London and I'll only be gone a matter of about six weeks and the trip is just what he needs. He's looking badly, not fit at all. The salt air will do him no end of good. I don't mind telling you that I have no desire to lose a successful young author on the very eve of discovery, so to speak. I consider it good business for him to go across at this time."

He paused a second, then continued with a sudden quick, disarming grin: "All this is a bit beside the point, Mrs. Northrup. To be quite honest with you, I am sure that your husband, who has made her side the point, Mrs. Northrup, and more than ordinarily attached to this young man, will get a perfectly selfish but genuine delight out of his company. I'm a rather lonely individual, I'm afraid, and it's not often that people attract me. I'm going to be tremendously disappointed if you cannot convince your husband that he ought to go with me. He has some crazy idea that he can't afford the trip and that he ought not to leave you—I think you will see it differently."

"I certainly do, Mr. Maynard."

"Then I can plan on his going?"

"Absolutely," Stanley's eyes were shining with excitement. No one knew better than she how much such a trip would mean to John Harmon. And he had never even mentioned it to her—one not but John Harmon could ever have been so beautifully foolish!

"That's fine, Mrs. Northrup. I'll bring him back a different man! We'll see a week from Tuesday."

"I don't know how to thank you."

"You don't have to, my dear. It's I who am indebted to you, for loaning me your charming husband."

He walked to the door with her and took her hand to say good-bye.

"I'm expecting great things from him. This novel has brought out qualities that make for real writing. He always had a sympathetic understanding of situations, now he has a sympathetic understanding of people; and it's people, my dear, that make novels, just as it's people that make life."

"You did. Where?"

"At his office."

"Oh, how did that happen?" He looked at her curiously.

"He sent for me, about your going abroad with him."

John Harmon stiffened suddenly. "That was a little unnecessary, seems to me, I thought we'd settled that."

"As it happens, you hadn't, but I have."

"Just what do you mean, Stan?"

"Nothing much—except that you are going, of course."

"And that's where you are entirely wrong, my dear—I am not!"

And to add emphasis to his remark, John Harmon tossed his cigarette into the empty grate, plunged his hands into his pockets and stared at her defiantly, with eyes which had grown more intent than eager during the last few weeks.

"I'm sorry, dear, I gave him my word." Stanley was quite unimpressed by his firmness.

"He had no business dragging you into it."

"If you weren't so run down and irritable you'd never be capable of such ingratitude."

"But darn it all, Stanley, don't you see, I can't run off and leave you here in this place—it'll be hot as blazes in another ten days. Besides, we've got some money right now, but how long will it last? I haven't done a thing since I finished 'Gloria'—it doesn't look as if I ever would."

"That's exactly why you've got to go—you're not yourself. You can't afford to drag along like this. You've got to get your strength back. You know perfectly well what an hour at the typewriter does to you!"

"I know, all right," John Harmon buried his face in his hands—in his thin, clever hands that were so fearfully white and unsteady.

"But darn it all, Stanley, leaving the expense out of it, I can't go off and leave you alone—just when we had planned to go away together."

Stanley was sitting on a low stool at his feet, and there was something in his voice, something husky and rough, which made her look up at him swiftly. He was staring at her in the freelight, and her heart rocked suddenly and painfully against her side at what she saw in his eyes in the moment before he dragged them away. It was as if for that brief, shattering second he had let her see straight into the soul of him and know for once the tremendous way in which he wanted her, needed her.

"You see, Stanley," he reached for her hands, held them lightly, his betraying eyes on their white slimness, "we've never had a—honey-moon. I thought that perhaps we could—now. Look at me, darling."

She looked up at him slowly, and then with a little

DISABLED VETS WELFARE TO BE TALKED AT MEET

Legion National Committeeman of Iowa To Be Speaker at Legion Dinner

The welfare of disabled veterans of Illinois will be discussed at a service officers' dinner to be held at MacMurray College, Saturday evening, June 16, at the Third Division American Legion Convention. J. Ray Murphy, national legislative committee-man, of Ida Grove, Iowa, will discuss rehabilitation as the principal speaker of the evening.

The committee in charge of the program for the evening feels that the discussion which will take place following the dinner is especially appropriate as an important part of the convention since the convalescence of a platoon to the veterans hospital in Jacksonville, Jacksonville has long been a center of ex-service men's rehabilitation interest.

The program follows:
Service Officers' Dinner—MacMurray College.

Call to order—John W. Lawson, commander, Post No. 278, Jacksonville.

Invocation—Frank J. Lawler, department chaplain, Jacksonville.

Homer G. Bradney—Toastmaster.

HOUR OF MUSIC. WORSHIP ON I. C. CAMPUS SUNDAY

An hour of music and worship was enjoyed on the Illinois College campus Sunday night between the hours of 7 and 8. Selections were rendered by both the men's and women's Glee Clubs and by De Vere Brockhouse as soloist.

The Rev. Arthur W. Rider of Los Angeles briefly addressed the seniors and the many friends and residents of the community gathered in the College Grove. Dr. Rider is a graduate of the college with the class of 1886. He received his Doctor of Divinity degree from the college in 1915. Using as his theme the three points stressed by Jowett, he talked of the value of a college education in terms of learning, friendship and religion.

He stressed the enrichment that is gained from the opening of the best of the world's literature, music and thought to the college graduate. Four years give a taste, an insatiable taste, for the best which the world can offer.

Friendship is a strong point at Illinois College, said Dr. Rider, for there is evidence of it on all hands—friendship among the students, and that constant inspiration from contact with great men. The influence of great teachers, who exemplify in their own lives the truths they talked about in philosophy, ethics, literature and history, is one of the greatest features of Illinois College.

Religion as defined by Dr. Rider is love, and faith which sustains man in time of stress, strain and trial. The young man or woman who gets ideals of life, while in College, gets religion. The issue is left to the young person to decide for himself—whether he will be a lifer or a leaver. The college has served as a place of beginning of learning which has opened the storehouse of life, has taught the value of unselfish friends, has taught that religion is life.

The Fund Association collected during the 22 years of Dr. Capps' activity was a total of $94,656. Hamm, of California, 1894, but none of the members of his class were present.

Speaking for the class of 1894, Dr. J. W. Putnam, acting president of Butler University of Indianapolis, Ind., paid tribute to the steady and persistent growth of the college, pointing out the improvements in the physical plant and teaching force.

Eight of the 13 members of the graduating class of that year attended the reunion, he reported.

J. O. VOSSELER WEDS MISS TURNER IN PENSACOLA

Word has been received in the city of the marriage of Lieut. James O. Vosseller, a former resident of Jacksonville and Miss Leontine Turner of Pensacola, Florida. The following story appeared in the Pensacola Journal.

The marriage of Miss Leontine Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Turner to James Oliver Vosseller, Lieut. United States Navy, was solemnized Saturday evening, June 2, at 7 o'clock at St. Michael's rectory. The Rev. Father Buckley officiating.

Shasta daisies and Easter lilies with ferns, were used in decorating, with candles for illumination. Two rooms of the rectory having been used for the ceremony. Forming an aisle through the rooms, baskets of Shasta daisies and satin ribbons defined the pathway of the bridal party, the daisies and ferns also forming the background.

A white prie diu with white satin cushions was used for the exchange of vows, with candles and Easter lilies on the altar.

Miss Cora Louise Blount, maid of honor wore a peach colored lace and carried Souvenir roses and delphiniums. Lucy Turner was in blue and carried a long length with nosegay of the same yellow roses. Lieut. H. P. Cooper, Jr. was best man.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore white lace and short veil of illusion and carried Bride's roses with shower of lilies-of-the-Valley.

A reception at the home, 300 West Gonzales street, immediately followed the wedding. The use of Shasta daisies and lilies was repeated in the room where the bride party received and in the dining room, with roses and gladioli used in the other rooms.

In the reception room the mantel was banked with daisies, massed in artistic arrangement with graceful pendant ferns, and daisies were used on the piano. Tall trip candles and baskets of Easter lilies and Swanson marked the place where bride and groom received. They were assisted by other members of the bridal party and by Mr. and Mrs. Turner and Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Quina. Mrs. Quina grandmother of the bride, wore Royal blue silk lace. Mrs. Turner was in powder blue French voile.

Both wore corsages of gardenias. Color tones of white and yellow were suggested in the reception room, where white and yellow lilies and Swanson were used. Roses in American Beauty shade and gladioli in shades of rose and yellow were used in the room opening onto the loggia where punch was served, green baskets holding gladioli and ferns and white cut flowers forming the base of the punch bowl.

In the dining room white and green were carried out entirely, the table laid in white cloth of Italian cut-work and centered with tall white Kilkenny roses and gardenias, with white candles and silver candelabra. Shasta daisies were used here on the mantel.

Miss Turner, who is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Turner, since her debut has been popular in Pensacola society, where the Turner and Quina families have been identified with the social and business life for generations.

Lieut. Vosseller has made his home in Jacksonville, Illinois, before coming to Pensacola for training at the U. S. Naval Air station where he has many friends both in town and service society.
